

The Free 7-Day High-Protein Meal Plan

Seven days of breakfasts, lunches and dinners built from our most protein-packed recipes. Every meal lists its protein per serving, so you always know exactly what your plate is doing for you.

by The Recipe Seeker / written by Emily Carter

Most high-protein eating fails on two things: boring chicken and no real plan. This fixes both. Every recipe below comes from the Recipe Seeker kitchen, and the protein numbers are the real per-serving numbers published with each recipe on therecipesearcher.com. You get 76 to 96 grams of protein a day from food alone, without powders or meal-replacement shakes.

The 7-Day Plan

Day 1

Day total: 96g protein

BREAKFAST Greek Yogurt Breakfast Bowl

24g

LUNCH Tuna & White Bean Salad

32g

DINNER Spinach & Feta Stuffed Chicken

40g

Day 2

Day total: 86g protein

BREAKFAST Avocado Egg Toast

22g

LUNCH Sardine Lemon Pasta

26g

DINNER Salmon & Kale Pesto Pasta

38g

Day 3

Day total: 89g protein

BREAKFAST Berry Overnight Oats

20g

LUNCH Garlic Lemon Chicken & Quinoa

37g

DINNER Beef & Lentil Chili

32g

Day 4

Day total: 88g protein

BREAKFAST Spinach & Feta Egg Muffin Cups

22g

LUNCH Tuna & White Bean Salad

32g

DINNER Miso-Glazed Salmon with Rice

34g

Day 5

Day total: 76g protein

BREAKFAST Mushroom & Spinach Frittata

20g

LUNCH Mediterranean Chickpea Bowl

19g

DINNER Garlic Lemon Chicken & Quinoa

37g

Day 6

Day total: 81g protein

BREAKFAST Greek Yogurt Breakfast Bowl

24g

LUNCH Black Bean & Corn Tacos

19g

DINNER Salmon & Kale Pesto Pasta

38g

Day 7

Day total: 91g protein

BREAKFAST Avocado Egg Toast

22g

LUNCH Garlic Lemon Chicken & Quinoa

37g

DINNER Beef & Lentil Chili

32g

Protein numbers are per serving, taken from the published nutrition for each recipe. If you need more on any day, add one of our snacks: Greek Yogurt Breakfast Bowl (24g), Strawberry Chia Pudding (11g), or No-Bake Pumpkin Seed Energy Bites (7g).

How to Use This Plan

1. Pick two prep days. Cook the Beef & Lentil Chili and the Garlic Lemon Chicken & Quinoa ahead. Both keep 3 to 4 days in the fridge and reheat well, which covers most of your lunches and two dinners.
2. Repeat what you love. The plan reuses favorites on purpose. If a recipe wins, make a double batch and use it twice in the week rather than cooking something new every night.
3. Do not skip breakfast. Every breakfast here delivers 20g of protein or more. That is the single biggest difference between a day you stay full and a day you snack at 4pm.
4. Adjust portions, not meals. Training hard? Add a bigger chicken portion or an extra egg. Not as hungry? Eat less of everything, but keep all three meals. Protein works best spread across the day.

4 Quick High-Protein Tips

- 1 Start with protein at every meal. Put the chicken, fish, eggs or beans on your plate first, then build the rest around them.
- 2 Greek yogurt is the easiest upgrade. Swapping regular yogurt for plain Greek yogurt nearly triples the protein in breakfasts and snacks.
- 3 Combine plants for complete protein. Beans plus grains (like the chickpea bowl with quinoa) give you the full set of amino acids without meat.
- 4 Cook proteins in batches. A tray of baked chicken or salmon on Sunday becomes salads, tacos and bowls all week. Two hours of cooking covers five days of protein.

Keep Going on The Recipe Seeker

This plan is a start, not the whole library. On the site you will find every recipe in this plan with full ingredients, step-by-step photos and nutrition per serving, plus 12 more recipes you can filter by protein, iron, fiber and more.

Find recipes by what your body needs.

therecipeseeker.com

Nutrition values are estimates based on USDA food data and standard ingredient databases. They are provided for general guidance only and are not medical advice. If you have a medical condition, talk to your doctor or a registered dietitian before changing your diet. © 2026 The Recipe Seeker.